

Video: Why Gamers Should Weld

A quest of epic proportions reveals itself to you, fervent gaming enthusiast.

The workforce is in peril: The welding shortage will reach a deficit of 400,000 workers by 2024, according to the American Welding Society. As veteran welders retire, fewer younger welders are available to replace them. For every leader who joins, five retire. Armed with automation controllers and a love for simple yet complex jobs, you are the key to restoring peace in the kingdom. Will you join the ranks of welders around the world and become the hero the industry needs?

Airgas Thinks explores why good gamers make great welders.

?
